Judges Busted and Underwood.

We suggested, a few days since, the propriety of swapping our illustrious jurist for his brother New-Yorker, the scarcely less renowned Dick Busted, who presides over the U. S. District Court in Alabama. We said,—and that without pretending to claim much for Busted,—that he is fully the equal of Underwood, in talents and acquirements, and a man of much better impulses. Dick is a genial, kind-hearted fellow, and is not the apparent victim of prejudice that Underwood is. With about the same degree of enlightenment, he is in the quality of fairness, much better suited to the position. His change to the grand jury at Huntsville, with some of Underwood's harangues of his before similar bodies at the opening courts. On the occasion referred to, Busted said:
"I am advised by the officers of the Government that only a few cases are to be submitted for your investigation. It is a most gratifying fact that in the present unsettled state of public affairs, the laws of the land are obeyed and respected. No surer sign of resuscitation and future prosperity can be given. A brave and a suffering people, defeated in their appeal to battle, grandly and manfully accepting 'the logic of accomplished results,' and resolved upon bettering their fortunes by the pursuits of industry and thrift, is a spectacle that challenges the respect and admiration of the good and the true."
Underwood might learn a useful lesson from this example.—Lynchburg Virginian.

Stokes, of Tennessee.

Stokes, of Tennessee, has been making a desperate effort to brave the contempt which he has inspired, by defending himself on the floor of Congress against the allegations of disloyalty, of which his Duncan letter furnishes so convincing a proof. It will remember that in this letter, written in May, 1861, this now rampant Radical denounced the action of Lincoln in calling out 75,000 troops for the subjugation of the South, being without the sanction of any authority of law, that he commended Gov. Harris, of Tennessee, for his course in arming the State to resist Mr. Lincoln at the point of the bayonet, and that he had enrolled his name as a volunteer to resist Lincoln's usurpation!!! The authenticity of this letter is acknowledged, the facts stated therein are admitted, and yet this loyal gentleman dared with this record confronting him, even at the desk of the Clerk, to touch with polluted lip the sacred Book, and swear that he "had voluntarily given no aid, countenance, counsel or encouragement to persons in armed hostility to the U. S. Government," whilst fanatical conditors stood by and applauded the shameless effrontery. "As a fitting sequel to this exhibition, we are not surprised to hear Stokes proclaiming on the floor of Congress, the beauties and amenities of Brownlow's sway, the blessings of 'free government as displayed by Tennessee, and giving utterance to the hope that each of the Southern States might adopt constitutions similar to that of Tennessee, and avowing at the same time his unalterable purpose to oppose their admission into the Union, unless their organic law should provide for the enfranchisement of the negro, and the disfranchisement of all who aided the rebellion."—Lynchburg News.

"Out of Debt, Out of Danger."

Some young farmer in the country has been writing to the New York Journal of Commerce to see if it could not help him to borrow money on his land. The editor does not "see it." He says:
"We would not help a young farmer to a loan upon his land if we could. There is no incubus upon human energies like a debt. It is oppressive enough when it comes upon a man of business as a temporary engagement representing a crop to be gathered, or a lot of produce or merchandise in transit, to be sold to meet it at maturity. But as a permanent burden upon a farm or a manufactory, or a stock of goods, it is worse than a nightmare. Keep out of debt is a golden rule, the observance of which would have saved life and fortune to millions of the race who have succumbed to the crushing pressure. If a man has a farm of three hundred acres, and needs capital to work it, let him sell half or two-thirds of it, and use the money thus obtained to develop the remainder. Any man of sense can make more money upon 150 acres clear of debt than upon 300 acres when he owes for half of it. If he has but 150 acres to begin with, let him sell 100 acres and work upon 50, rather than run in debt. We return an answer to every young man who asks us how to borrow money upon his estate. 'Don't! Live on paid sleep under yourself garments of fig leaves, and let the hay in the barn, if necessary, but do not borrow money! No more pecuniary institution could be organized than one that should loan ten million dollars to country farmers. It would be the ruin of seven-eighths of them.'"

Dr. Livingstone.—The reported safety of

Dr. Livingstone, the African explorer, does not appear to be founded on information absolutely reliable. Sir Roderick I. Hurchison, in a letter dated November 18, gives the substance of all that is known, as follows:
"I have this day received a letter from Dr. Kirk at Zanzibar, dated the 28th of September, stating that he has seen a native trader who had just returned from the Western side of Lake Tanganyika, and who gave him a detailed account of having seen a white man traveling in that very remote region!"

PROMISE TO MARRY.—An $8,000 verdict which a fair lady obtained in a breach of promise case at Augusta, Maine, a few days since, ought to make men who do not intend to marry, very cautious what they say or write to women who want to marry. Wicks, presiding of the hand, and above all, kisses and protestations in an ardent moment, may prove costly. —Aug 23-67

GAPES AND OTHER DISEASES IN CHICKENS AND TURKEYS.
A Certain Preventive of Chicken Cholera.
Will prevent disease in all kinds of fowl, and promote an increase of fat. Read the following:
Jefferson, Fredericks co., Va.,
July 22d, 1867.
Messrs. Clotworthy & Co.:
Gents—The wonderful cures which have been made by your Poultryers' Friend cannot fail to interest all who raise poultry. A gentleman of this village has been experimenting on chickens with the gapes. He tried your Poultryers' Friend according to the directions, and it had the desired effect in removing the worm. Since then I have had many calls for it, and it has been used extensively with the same result. It is of incalculable value to all who raise poultry. Respectfully,
A. SPRINCK.
